Turbine-Engined Fleets of the World's Airlines 1987

COMMENTS

At the end of the first quarter 1987, the number of aircraft on order by the major airlines of the world has increased to 1,761 aircraft from 1,387 a year earlier. If the aircraft ordered by the major world leasing companies were added to this total, the number on order would increase to a record 1,988 aircraft.

Over the past couple of years several aircraft leasing companies have placed large orders for aircraft which they then lease out to various operators. Since it is not known until delivery which operators will receive these aircraft, they are not included in the summary. The biggest of these companies, GPA Group, currently has (25) A320, (84) B737-300/400, (40) Fokker 100, (26) MD-83 and two MD-11 on order. Another is International Lease Finance Corporation (ILFC) which has (17) B737-300/400, (5) B757-200, (2) B767-200, (4) B767-300, (8) Fokker 100 and (4) MD-83 on order. Lastly, GATX Leasing Corporation has ten A320's on order.

During the time covered by this survey the United States airline industry has experienced a massive realignment with the merging of several major carriers and the prospect of more to come. Continental Airlines has more than doubled in size since last year's survey with the acquisition of Frontier Airlines, New York Air, People Express, and their dependent commuter operations. Texas Air Corp., Continental's parent company, has also gained control of Eastern Airlines, although the latter will continue to operate as a separate entity for the foreseeable future. Additionally, American Airlines has received approval for the takeover of AirCal. Western Airlines is now part of Delta. Northwest has gained control of Republic, and Trans World Airlines has absorbed Ozark. Over the next few months it is expected that Pacific Southwest Airlines and Piedmont Airlines will become part of the USAir group.

This merger trend has also spread outside the United States with Pacific Western buying Canadian Pacific becoming Canadian Airlines International in the process.

Despite these mergers, the number of airlines in the survey has risen to 773 from last year's total of 750. The number of aircraft in service also rose to 11,711 from 10,999.

The major aircraft manufacturers had some memorable achievements. Sales by Airbus Industries continued to gain momentum. Northwest Airlines ordered ten A320 aircraft with options on a further 90, and American Airlines became the first customer for the A300-600R with an order for 25. Although the A330/A340 programs had not been officially launched during this period, there were orders for 42 aircraft from Air France, Lufthansa, and Northwest. McDonnell-Douglas launched the MD-11 program and already have about 60 commitments. The MD-87 made its first flight in December 1986 with first deliveries expected in early 1988. Boeing unveiled the 737-400 series and so far have orders from Piedmont (25) and Hapag-Lloyd (6). The 747-400 is also selling well with approximately 90 orders from eleven customers. At British Aerospace, the BAe 146-300 was introduced with Air Wisconsin becoming the launch customer ordering five aircraft.

The Boeing 727 continues to be the most popular aircraft type in service with 1,676, the Boeing 737 is next with 1,284, but with an additional 309 aircraft on order it is expected to overtake the B-727 in the coming years. The McDonnell-Douglas DC-9/MD-80 series follows with 1,218.

With the regional carriers the de Havilland DHC-6 Twin Otter continues to be the most popular aircraft in service with 450, followed by the Fairchild/Fokker F-27 Friendship, which ended production during the past year, at 436, and the Swearingen Metro with 302 aircraft.

The summary includes aircraft in airline service at the end of March 1987. It does not represent total number of each type, as many airliners are used as executive or military transports. Some of the airlines in the survey also operate piston-engined aircraft which are not included.

Once again, cooperation of the world's airlines is greatly appreciated, with over 73 percent of them replying to the survey.

Aircraft leased from one airline to another are recorded as such in the "Remarks" column, but where an aircraft is owned by a leasing group or financial institution it is just marked as "Leased." Abbreviations used in the survey are listed in the Glossary on page 49.

This Survey has been compiled by Aviation Data Service, Inc. (AvData), Wichita, Kansas. Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy of the information published in this survey, but complete accuracy cannot be guaranteed. Most airlines cooperated readily by supplying fleet and powerplant details when approached; details for the airlines which were unable to respond have been taken from AvData records.
